

Going to the Ambulatory Care Centre (ACC) for a Procedure

Social Script

This is the main way
to enter the hospital.
You will go through this entry to get to the lifts to the hospital.

You can follow signs to the orange lift area.

You will take the lift to Level 3.

If you are lost or need help you can use the phone near the blue sign. They are near the orange lift or on level 1.

This is the Ambulatory Care Centre (ACC) entrance. Through this door is the ACC waiting area.

You will check in at the desk where they will ask for some details, including your name, birthday, and address.

You will wait in this area until someone calls your name.

The clinician will have a consultation with you in a room like this.

They will ask you some questions before doing the procedure.

You will lie down on a trolley or bed to have your procedure.

The clinician will tell you when you are finished and can go home.
